

Summer Reading

Your child has learned important skills to become an emergent, early, and proficient reader this school year. It is very important that you keep things going through the summer to maintain skills. Instilling a love for reading is so important in the earlier years! The time spent reading with your child is crucial for them to be fully prepared for the next school year.

I am encouraging your child to read this summer. I have set a goal of only 15 books over the summer. If your child reaches the goal, we will have a picnic at George L. Smith! Books are available at your local library or in our AR room at David Emanuel Academy. E-readers have made it easier than ever to take books on vacation. The AR books have reading levels on the inside cover. If you want to know the reading level of a book, you can search on the Scholastic website at www.Scholastic.com/bookwizard/.

Please keep a log for your child over the summer.

Thanks,
Miss Dana
